

We are witnessing a series of events in these United States that are eroding both fairness and common sense at the same time. A recent assault on Title II net neutrality by both elected and appointed officials is further evidence.

It is important to remember that, under the laws of the United States Constitution, the People comprise the government; many elected officials have, or seemingly have, lost sight of this fact.

As a voice of the government of these United States, I urge you to defend against the paving of pathways that will plant seeds of discrimination in any form, and taking place anywhere, including our online ecosphere, the Internet.
